How Clear Is the Family's Picture of What Comes Next for Your Husband?

Twelve quick questions about the decisions, dates and tasks. At the end: what you know, what's still unclear, and whom to ask.

Answer yes, no or not sure. This checks how complete the family's picture of the next few weeks is. It doesn't measure your husband, or how anyone in the family is managing, and a “no” is only something still to find out.

1. Do you know which decision about your husband's care comes next?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

2. Has anyone given you a date for that decision?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

3. Do you know who set that date, and whether it is firm?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

4. Can you say in a sentence why that decision comes before the others?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

5. Have you written down the other decisions the family is facing, apart from the chores?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

6. Do you know what has to be settled before the next decision can be made?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

7. Are the questions nobody has answered yet written down in one place?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

8. For each open question, do you know who can answer it?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

9. Does each task for this week have a name beside it, and has that person said yes?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

10. For the tasks that can't be missed, do you know who could step in?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

11. Have you looked at how much of the list has your own name on it, and what you'd hand over?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

12. Do you know who your husband wants this information shared with?

◯ Yes ◯ No ◯ Not sure

QUESTIONS TO CLARIFY

What this doesn't do

It counts what the family knows about the next few weeks, not how your husband is doing or how well anyone is managing. A low count means there are things to find out, and many of them are a phone call or one family conversation away.

Ready for the next step?

You can see which parts of the next few weeks are clear and which aren't. The care interview fills in the rest of the picture, area by area, and turns your answers into a Family Care Profile you can bring to any care conversation. Keep the page you just copied beside you while you answer.
